South Surrey Shred-a-Thon

On Saturday, September 15th we'll be hosting a charity paper shredding event supporting the Northern Spotted Owl Breeding Program. These owls are an endangered species and with your donation we can help them bounce back from the edge of extinction! Stop by from 11am to 3pm to have your documents shredded securely and safely while supporting a great cause.

Kitsilano Customer Appreciation

Our Kitsilano store's renovations are completed and we're ready to celebrate with a special customer appreciation day! On Saturday, September 22nd you can come visit our very first store and see all the great changes we've made to serve you better. Stop by between 11am and 3pm when we'll have some great activities for kids, catering by the Choices Deli, live music, and some great prizes and giveaways.

Best of all, the entire store will be 10% off for the entire day, and that includes sale items! We hope to see you there.

What's in Season in September?

August Veggies	August Fruits
Artichokes, Beans, Beets	Apples, Blueberries, Cranberries
Brussels sprouts, Corn, Celery	Grapes, Melons
Cucumbers, Fennel, Kale, Leeks	Plums, Pears
Pumpkins, Peppers, Tomatoes

COOK IT UP

German Schnitzel with Sauerkraut

Courtesy of Hengstenberg

– Serves 4 –

4 Pork Cutlets or Boneless Skinless
Chicken Breast (Approx. 115g each)

1 cup flour

2 eggs – well beaten

1 cup of unseasoned bread crumbs

3 tbsp Vegetable oil for frying

3 tbsp Butter

Salt and pepper to taste

1 pouch Hengstenberg 3 min Red Cabbage

Place each cutlet on a cutting board. Pound cutlets flat with a meat mallet until about 1/4 inch. Salt and pepper cutlets to taste.

Place three shallow bowls on the counter. In the first, put flour with salt and pepper to taste. In the second, put 2 eggs beaten well. In the third, place bread crumbs.

Coat schnitzel first in flour; then egg and then bread crumbs.

Heat oil and butter in a skillet on medium heat. Fry cutlets until golden brown about 3 min per side.

At the same time, heat the 3 min Red Cabbage following instructions.

Serve with your favorite Spaetzle recipe and Knax pickles.

AVOIDING ALLERGENS

According to Food Allergy Canada, over 2.6 million Canadians self-report having at least one food allergy! It is important to note that people can be allergic to any food, but some allergies are more common than others. Eggs, milk, mustard, peanuts, seafood, sesame, soy, sulphites, tree nuts, wheat and gluten are all listed as priority allergens by Health Canada, and actually have specific labeling requirements attached to them.

If it seems like more and more people are being diagnosed with a food allergy in Canada, then your hunch is correct, but the verdict is still out on why. According to the hygiene hypothesis, because we live in a cleaner more sanitized environment, our immune system is just not exposed to as many germs as it would have been in the past, leading our bodies to misidentify certain foods as harmful. Whatever the answer may be, the bottom line is more research is needed in this area.

Whether you are newly diagnosed with a food allergy or packing those back-to-school lunches and need some inspiration on what to eat or pack; check out our switch this for that list!

Eggs

To replace an egg in baking: use 1 Tbsp of chia seeds to 3 Tbsp of water and let the mixture sit for 15-20 minutes.

Milk & Soy

Try oat milk. SoFresh Oat Beverage is Canada's only oat beverage. Enjoy it on its own or as a base for any smoothie! Just one serving of SoFresh Oat gives you a nice boost of calcium, and vitamins B12, and D

Peanuts & Tree Nuts

Pumpkin seed butter is a tasty option. Seeds are wonderful nut substitutes—they're full of vitamins, minerals, good fats and protein, plus they satisfy hungry bellies. Smooth pumpkin seed butter between whole-grain crackers for a snack or spread it on celery stalks and top with raisins.

Wheat & Gluten

Gluten-free/Wheat-free grains include: amaranth, rice, buckwheat, cornmeal, millet, quinoa, sorghum and teff. Lots of great options!

Sesame

If your recipe calls for sesame seeds use: poppy seeds or flax seeds. If your recipe calls for sesame oil use: extra virgin olive oil or avocado oil.

Mustard

To maintain the thickness use an equal amount of mayonnaise, such as Chosen Foods Avocado Mayo - this mayo is different than most with avocado oil as the first ingredient! Similar to olive oil, avocado oil is chock-full of heart healthy monounsaturated fats. Plus, they only use cage-free eggs. For Dijon mustard, use a small amount of horseradish in its place.

What is IV Therapy and how can it benefit me?

By Dr. Rae St. Arnault, ND Empower Health

Q

What is IV therapy and is it an option for me?

A

IV Therapy, for hangovers, energy and more!

You might have heard of IV therapy, a new fad for better health. In fact, IV therapy has been around for a long time and has been popularized by the naturopathic community across North America. We use it in both chronic and acute conditions. The effects for some people are immediate, while others require a series of treatments.

What is it and what are the benefits?

Naturopathic IV therapy consists of the intravenous administration of nutrients and medicines. Vitamin C, B-vitamins, trace minerals, calcium, magnesium, amino acids and anti-oxidants; are some of the main ingredients that we use. When we put things in the body through the veins, we are able to get to doses that are much higher than what can be absorbed through the digestive tract, and therefore treat more conditions.

Best summer-time IVs?

Summer is a time of activity and leisure, so popular reasons for getting IVs are to prevent or recover from hangovers, as well as work-out recovery IVs. Women also are keen on getting the right antioxidants such as vitamin C and glutathione to help give their skin a natural brightness and glow.

Dr. Rae St. Arnault is an East Vancouver Naturopath (Naturopathic Physician) based on Commercial Drive. She uses her medical training to help put the power back into your hands as a patient, giving you the tools you need to make good health care decisions. She is your health coach, and can help you synthesize all your past treatment and current symptoms, and provide you with the advice and referrals needed to take that next step.

Wheat-free Made Easy

By D'Arcy Furness, RHN

D'Arcy is at Choices South Surrey Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays

Packing lunches and snacks for those avoiding wheat can feel challenging given that our typical carrying devices tend to be wheat derived: breads, buns, wraps and crackers. Keep your non-wheat eaters satisfied and well-nourished with these simple steps.

Think Outside of the Wrap

Try your favourite sandwich fillings bowl-style. Chicken salad over a bed of leftover rice or quinoa, or egg salad over crisp celery pieces to mix in as you nosh are good options. Or roll up your fillings in crisp romaine or collard greens for a healthier choice than bread. Snack size nori sheets make a fun wrap for omega-3 rich tuna salad or high fibre red and yellow peppers with hummus.

Choose Protein-Rich, Easy Hand-Held Fare

Try pepperoni chicken roll ups dipped in tomato sauce – cut chicken breasts into 1.5" strips width wise. Wrap each piece of chicken with one large piece of pepperoni, place on a baking sheet folded side down and bake at 350 for 15-20 minutes. Chill and pack up to serve with your favourite tomato pasta sauce. Leftover wheat-free pizza, sliders or veggie burgers from last night's dinner are great sustainable options for easy, cold lunches and snacks. Organic corn chips with a protein-rich tzatziki is another yummy option.

Turn To The Pros

Choices carries great options for wheat-free eaters, including a wide variety of gluten-free products. Check out locally sourced Wise Bites and Freyumm bars and cookies -these delicious snacks are free from all major allergens, have reasonable sugar counts and taste delicious! For fast and easy wheat-free shopping, look for our blue, gluten-free tagging throughout our stores identifying products safe for you.

Are you looking for healthy variety in your diet?

Each month in our stores you'll find green labels on certain products, indicating our Dietitians' Top Choices.

Choice Produce Picks

BC Apples

BC apples are back! Packed with antioxidants, such as vitamin C, beta-carotene, and lutein. Plus the skins of apples are also one of the best-known sources of pectin—a type of soluble fiber. An apple a day definitely does keep the doctor away.

Organic BC Corn

Stock up! By cooking multiple cobs at once they are ready for a recipe with minimal prep. Boil a few cobs for 15-20 minutes, and keep whole in the fridge for the week, or slice off the cob and freeze. Try BBQ corn brushed with a chili lime spice rub, or added to tacos or salads.

Grocery Gossip

Olympic Organic Kefir

Made fresh every day starting with milk and cream from cows who live, sleep and graze on small farms close to their dairy in Delta, BC. Just one cup contains 9 g of protein and is a great source of calcium and a good source of vitamin A. Enjoy alone, in a smoothie or in muesli.

Rise Kombucha

A Montreal-based company who pride themselves on making an organic, fair-trade and vegan kombucha. The SCOBY (which is also known as the Mother or kombucha culture) metabolizes the organic sugar and caffeine in the tea, so you don't have to, resulting in a drink packed with probiotics, amino acids and enzymes.

Rolling Meadows Yogurt

A proudly Canadian company that works with local farmers from Southwestern Ontario to bring us a smooth and creamy yogurt made simply with grass fed dairy and cultures. Grass fed dairy means cows never eat less than 80% grass, year-round. Milk from grass fed cows has an improved ratio of omega 3:6 fatty acids and more CLA fat, a naturally occurring good-for-you trans fats.

the Dish on chia

Native to Central America, Salvia hispanica (known to me and you as chia), was a staple of pre-Columbian Aztec diets. The seeds were carried as an efficient and practical source of food and nutrition for Aztec warriors so that they could keep up endurance on long journeys.

In more recent times, chia became popular again as a decoration that sprouted from terra cotta figurines. We've since then rediscovered the true value of chia seeds, and they've moved from cheesy decoration to a top superfood. Chia is up there in nutritional value with hemp hearts and flax seeds. Chia can now be found in dozens of commercial products like crackers, breads and snack bars. There are a lot of uses for these versatile seeds. When it comes to the kitchen, chia can be added to a near limitless number of dishes as both a nutrition booster and as a garnish.

Smoothies, juices, salads and parfaits are a few things you can simply mix chia seeds in to add a healthy boost. Did you know you can make a delicious drink with them? Chia seeds can cause liquids to thicken. A chilled Chia Fresca is a great hydrator on a hot day. Simply mix chia in to cold water with some fresh citrus juice, then add your favourite sweetener. You could even add some herbs or spices like ginger or basil. Serve chilled and voila! Delicious. You can also use their thickening properties when making salad dressings or fruit preserves.

There are also limitless possibilities when adding chia to your baking. Experiment with chia when making brownies, granola bars, date squares or crackers. Chia seeds are also great for adding in to your home made nut butters. Include them when grinding your other nuts or seeds to reduce fat content. Stewed lentils or root mash dishes will also benefit from your chia boost.

Perhaps experimenting with a modern chia pesto is a delicious idea? I'm imagining swapping pine nuts for chia seeds, then changing basil for kale or arugula, or maybe even adding avocado for some healthy fats.

Best of all, there's no need to throw out that silly green haired pet you've been growing. In fact, you may have had a hidden garden on your windowsill this whole time. Sprouted chia seeds are a great inclusion in smoothies, sandwiches, wraps and salad bowls.
